

2. Litigation for the Advancement of Collective Rights

EMILIO DE CAPITANI

Executive Director of the Fundamental Rights European Experts Group (FREE Group www.free-group.eu). Fundamental Rights activist promoting legal cases before CJEU (such as Case T-540/15 and T-163/21 on EU legislative Transparency as well as a request for preliminary ruling on the EU Directive on Passenger Name Record (PNR)(Case C-222/20).

Former Visiting Professor at Queen Mary's Law School (London), and at Scuola Superiore S. Anna (PISA – Italy). Former Official of the European Parliament (1985-2011) and Secretary of the European Parliament Civil Liberties Committee (LIBE 1998-2011). Previously (1971 to 1985) head of the Service in charge of legislative coordination for the Regional Government of Lombardy (Giunta regionale). Author of several articles dealing with regional and European evolution.

AUDE BOUVERESSE

Aude Bouveresse is full professor of Public law at the University of Strasbourg. Her research interests are focused on constitutional aspects of European Union Law, particularly the role of courts within the Union's legal order. She has written extensively on the Union's judiciary, institutional law and EU-citizenship. At the current time, she is developing a research line on Commons.

Aude Bouveresse is Director of the European and International Law Research Center at the University of Strasbourg (CEIE, UR 7307), director of the Master of International and European Business Law. She has been Legal Secretary at ECJ (referendar- office of Miguel Poyares Maduro).

MARIA DI MAGGIO

Maria Di Maggio is a PhD candidate in Criminal Law at the University of Bari. Her research interests intersect environmental criminal law and sustainable development, anti-corruption, crime prevention and economic criminal law. The PhD student spent a period abroad at the Universitat Pompeu Fabra in Barcelona, where she studied the theme of whistleblowing with Professor Ramon Ragues i Valles, an expert on the subject. Maria Di Maggio has participated in numerous international congresses, at the University of Luxembourg and in other international seminars, such as the Italo-Spanish Seminar held at the University of Milan and at the University of Granada, respectively in 2020 and 2022; she also gave a speech at the Syracuse Institute, as part of the XI "Giuliano Vassalli" Interdoctoral Training Course in Criminal Law and Procedure for PhD students e PhDs. Furthermore, she obtained a Master's degree in Economic and Business Criminal Law at the University of Bologna and specialized in Anti-corruption at the University of Milan.